ANOTHER fog this morning again delayed the local packets a few hours.

HUN'S Reel and Brass Band will give one of its popular fete-to-night, at the Old Amazon Hall, in the Fifth Ward.

CAPTAIN WILLIAM E. GREENE, the newly appointed Superintendent of the Federal building at Frankfort, entered upon the discharge of his duties Friday.

SPECIAL premium, one barrel of Hun's Criterion Flour for best loaf of yeast bread from Criterion Flour. Ask your grocer for a sack and try for the premium.

The lady readers of the BULLETIN are advised that Mrs. L. V. Davis, 15 Court street, will make her first display of trimmed millinery on Monday next. The display will continue through the week.

To Advertisers.

During the fair an enlarged edition of the DAILY BULLETIN will be issued which advertisers will find a valuable medium through which to reach the eyes of the people. An edition of 1500 copies will be printed each day.

THE Young Men's Fair Company have forty acres of corn growing on its grounds which it proposes to dispose of by raffie at $1.00 per chance. The raffie will take place Saturday, September 10th, provided enough chances are obtained prior to that date.

NELSON'S New Book-keeping is a work that ought to be in the hands of every young business man in the city. It is the most complete work of the kind ever printed, and embraces every department of mercantile, banking and other branches of business. Mr. Sam. A. Wood is the agent for Mayville.

THE Robertson County Democrat this week has the following: Mr. Clarence Stanton has retired from the editorial management of the Mayville Buletary to take a position as Government Storekeeper. He is succeeded by M. F. Marsh, a young attorney of Mayville. May the new editor fall to his duties happily and his lunch ravishingly, is our best.

Good for the Child.

The ailments of childhood need careful attention and wise treatment. Some people think "anything is good enough for a child, and there isn't much the matter with it anyhow." But judicious mothers know better, and do as Mrs. H. W. Perry, of Richmond, Va., does. She says: "I take Brown's Iron Bitters and give it to my children with the most satisfactory results." Sold everywhere.

THE following item, from our Sardis correspondent, appeared in Friday's issue of this paper: "The Watson barbecue, on Saturday, was a success, enjoyably and spiritually. 'The veteran Democrat,' like Napoleon at the passage of the bridge at Lodi, went in well heeled—music, feasting and dancing. The old man marked everything paid. 'Rah for Watson.' Mr. John W. Watson called on us this morning and requested us to say that he furnished the music, only, for the Watson barbecue, and paid for it. He wants it distinctly understood that he had nothing whatever to do with anything else that was provided for the people on the above occasion.

PERSONAL.

Miss Emma Calbish, of Augusta, is here visiting relatives.

Miss Allie Daugherty, of this city is visiting Miss Emma Clary, of Shannon.

Mrs. J. W. Darrow, of Vanceburg, is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. John C. Lovel.

Mrs. James H. Salloe returned, Friday, from an election-riding tour through the western part of the county.

The friends of Mr. Madison Worthington, of Fern Leaf, will regret to learn that he is very low with typhoid fever.

Mrs. Sadie Niemiller, of Cincinnati, Ohio, is the guest of the family of Mr. Henry Dinger, of East Mayville.

Mr. H. M. Stitt, of Flemingsburg, is in town to-day. He has sold his hotel at that place, and will retire from the business the first of next January.

Miss Fannie M. Moore, eldest daughter of Captain Moore, of the Bonanza, was married this week at Portsmouth to Mr. Charles A. Geiger, of Springfield, Ohio.

The Robertson County Tribune says: "Miss Gertrude Chandler left Monday morning for Mayville, where she will attend school during the fall and winter.

LOTS OF LIGHT

On the Gas Question—Lively Discussion at the Meeting of Council Last Night.

Contract With Citizens Gas Light Company Amended and Ratified—Proceedings in Full.

An adjourned meeting of the City Council was called to order Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock, by President John P. Piester. Messrs. Chenoweth, Stockton, Martin, Hechinger, Frost, Wm. Rudy, Conrad Rudy, Blanchard, Matthews and Fitzgerald answered the roll-call. Messrs. Alexander, Yancey and Wallingford came in later. The council chamber was comfortably filled with citizens, who took a deep interest in the proceedings. President Piester stated the object of the meeting to be to take further action as to the contract with the Citizens Gas Light Company; that since the last council meeting, the Committee on Propositions and Grievances in accordance with instructions, had consulted with Colonel Wadsworth as attorney for the city; that the contract first made with said company had been altered so as to give the city a first lien on all the works, pipes, mains and real estate, and the committee now recommended the adoption and signing of the contract, as altered, by the President of the Council and City Clerk, and that it then be placed on record in County Clerk's office. A motion to that effect was made and seconded.

Mr. A. M. J. Cochran was granted the floor. He spoke nearly an hour on the subject. He admitted his connection with the old gas company, but said he appeared as a taxpayer, and prospective consumer of gas. Reminded the council of the capacity in which they were acting—as representatives of the people and not as individuals. They should be actuated by what was the public interest alone, and not with the purpose of injuring any one. If public interest did not demand any action on their part none should be taken. He spoke of the contract with the Citizens Gas Company, and claimed they were not legally or morally bound by it, because said company had not been legally organized when the contract was made. They were not bound, morally, he said, because one of the members of the new gas company was once the agent of the council to investigate the gas question, and had suppressed, or withheld a proposition, or plan, to regulate this matter. He maintained that the right way, and the best plan, is to allow but one gas company in the town, and have it under the complete control and management of the council. Two companies would be sure to create competition, and this always resulted, in the course of time, in a consolidation of all the companies, when the price of gas would go back as high, if not higher, than ever.

He referred to Cincinnati, where the Board of Aldermen, some years ago adopted General Hickentopfer's plan, and refused to allow competition to come in. He cited a number of instances to show that consolidation invariably resulted when competing companies were allowed in a town. "When combination is possible, competition is impossible," competition could not be relied upon to regulate the price of gas. He cited cases where Congress was petitioned twice, and refused to allow competing companies to enter the city of Washington, the House Committee reporting adversely to the petition of gas companies in both cases for the reasons above mentioned. Acting for the old gas company, he said it was willing to place the whole matter in the hands of the City Council to arbitrate and decide upon the price of gas, hereafter, that his company was ready to enter into a contract with the city to that effect. Under the contract with the Citizens Gas Light Company, the city was bound for ten years at the rates of $1.50 per 1,000, and $20 per lamp, no matter how cheap gas might in the meantime be made under new improvements and inventions. His company did not propose to bind the city for any limited time. It was willing to leave the whole matter with the City Council to change and alter the price at any time it might wish to do so. His company was willing to execute bond to perform and live up to a contract to that effect. He claimed that this plan had been suggested to one of the Gas Company members who was now a member of the new company, and that the suggestion had been suppressed or withheld from the council. Closing, he reiterated that he was speaking as a taxpayer and prospective consumer of gas. If he had erred in any of his remarks, it was not intentional. He suggested the appointment of a committee to further investigate the question before final action was taken and offered a resolution to that effect.

Mr. Fitzgerald asked for question on his motion to adopt report of committee. Mr. Judd said he, if any one, was responsible for the suppression charged by Mr. Cochran. He denied that any plan had been suppressed or withheld by the Gas Committee.

Judge Piester was granted leave to speak. He suggested that when fifteen gentlemen proposed to act for 7,000 or 8,000 people, they should act slowly. They should inform themselves fully before taking any final action on such a momentous question. He advised the council to adopt Mr. Cochran's resolution, and defer final action until the matter could be more fully investigated. Hoped they would move slowly and protested as a citizen against any hasty action.

Proceeding to speak of the old gas company and the right to alter its charter, he was interrupted by Messrs. Judd and Fitzgerald with some pertinent questions. An animated discussion followed. Sarcastic remarks were made. Mr. Piester wanted to know if Mr. Fitzgerald was still a member of the council, he understood he was holding a Federal office. Mr. Fitzgerald said his resignation as a member of council was before that body—had never been acted on—consequently, he was still a member. President Piester requested them to confine themselves to the question. During the confusion Mr. Stockton asked for a reading of Mr. Cochran's resolution referring the matter to another committee, and moved its adoption. Mr. Hechinger seconded the motion.

Judge Piester offered more suggestions in favor of resolution, and he and Mr. Fitzgerald indulged in a few more spirited remarks.

Mr. R. A. Cochran, Sr., got the floor, and said this matter wasn't personal with him. He could afford to lose what he had in old company. Council's action might hurt others of our citizens. Alluded to a widow and a crippled boy who had all their money in stock of old company. He proposed to fight the matter out. It wouldn't rest here.

Dr. Martin wanted to know whether the contract with the new company was binding on council. The council had acted with a full knowledge of the condition of the new company all along. He, for one, had been in favor of old company all along, but thought it had deferred making the right proposition until it was too late. The new company had acted in good faith, and had gone to considerable expense already and was disposed to do all asked of it to secure the fulfillment of its contract. He, for one, had acted in good faith and was not disposed to continue the question any longer. He wanted it settled now.

A discussion as to the legality of the contract with the new company was participated in by Messrs. Judd, Hechinger, Rudy, Cochran and others.

Mr. Wallingford, who came in late, asked for information. Mr. C. H. White appeared and explained his connection with the question.

Messrs. Wallingford and Chenoweth coincided with Dr. Martin's views, and were opposed to any continuance of the question. They had acted in good faith with the Citizens Gas Light Company and proposed to stand by what they had done.

The yeas and nays on the adoption of Cochran's resolution to refer the matter to another committee for further investigation were called, and resulted in a vote of six to eight against its adoption. Yeas: Messrs. Frost, Wm. Rudy, Conrad Rudy, Stockton, Hechinger, Alexander, Yancey, Messrs. Piester, Martin, Fitzgerald, Chenoweth, Wallingford, Matthews, Blanchard and Yancey.

The committee's report was adopted. The contract as altered is to be recorded in County Clerk's office. The company gives the city a first lien on all its property in this city, as a security for the full performance of what it has promised to do.

A communication was read from Mr. W. S. Frank, Chairman of the School Board, showing the necessity of another assistant teacher in the high school.

A communication from Professor John M. Kinney to said board on the same question was read. (Both communications will appear hereafter.)

The board was authorized to engage another teacher to be paid out of the general fund.

The application of Martin Greenleaf for license to establish a coffee-house on Fleming pike, was referred to the Committee on Licenses, with instructions to report at the next meeting.

The marshal was instructed to have Mr. Hunt repair his side-walk at the corner of Third and Plum streets.

The Alms Committee was instructed to furnish Joseph W. Parks, a deaf mute, with clothing to the value of $12.

The matter as to repelling act making five per cent. discount for prompt payment of taxes was referred to Committee on Laws, etc., with instructions to draw up an amendment to same.

The resignation of Mr. Ed. Fitzgerald was read and accepted. Council adjourned.

HELP THE PERISHING.

THE CYCLONE SUFFERERS NEED AID BADLY AND PROMPTLY.

Women and Children Prostrated and Scores of Persons Sickened Through the Terrible Excitement—An Appeal for Dollars and Dimes—Notes.

WASHINGTON C. H., O., Sept. 12.—Hubert Haggart, night operator at the telephone exchange, died of his wounds. J. C. Vampelt, hurt at the Odd Fellows' meeting, dangerously, is growing worse. The other wounded are recovering. The work of repairing is being pushed. The militia are still on duty. Thieves are plenty. The Hill gang from Springfield were jailed.

Prostration following the excitement has made many sick. Scores of women and children are very ill, and the doctors are very busy. The number of houses totally demolished is over 150. The cemetery is in ruins. Costly monuments were crushed. The ground is covered with dead birds. Many horses and cows were killed and orchards, vineyards and cornfields in the track of the cyclone were destroyed. The stricken people must have generous aid from abroad.

Congressman John Little, of the Eighth district, makes the following statement: "The destruction here is not so generally sweeping as at Jacksonville, but it is vastly greater. The general course of the tornado was from southwest to northeast, through the long way and out of the city. Its general width was about six hundred feet with occasional breaks to the right or left. In its course of a mile and a half in town it is the exception that any square escaped injury. In most of them damaged to property are marked, and in some fearful. The houses in the portion suffered most. The injuries ranged from the shattering of windows to every stage of destruction. If a single house in the portion escaped harm, I have not noticed the exception. In two blocks alone practical men have estimated the loss to buildings at $25,000. The damages to goods in these will not fall under $20,000. No class of property escaped. Dwellings of all grades, public houses, churches, schoolhouses, fell prey to the storm's fury. The individual losses, as shown by estimates of committees, will exceed a quarter of a million. These are total, as they are not covered by insurance. They fall most largely, but not most disastrously, upon business men.

The devastation will be most seriously felt by the poor, who have come in for their full share. I should say as many as forty houses occupied by poor families were utterly demolished. The relief committee estimates—for all the sub-committees have not reported—that a hundred families will need assistance because of losses incurred. Some of them, as I know from personal observation, are rendered destitute. Numbers of them are on the streets in borrowed clothing. The business men, as a rule, will be heavily burdened to make their own necessary repairs. Aid for the suffering poor must therefore come from outside sources. It will require many thousand dollars to alleviate and prevent suffering, and there should be no delay in furnishing it. There is a reluctance among citizens to ask for outside assistance. They should not be required to ask. It should come without the asking, and come generously. Winter is close at hand, and the relief committee, which is a most excellent one, will have all it can do, with all the needed funds at hand, to provide shelter for the thousands cold weather. Every dollar sent to the chairman, C. H. B. Maynard, Washington C. H., will be applied to the relief of the needy poor. Let the necessity for prompt assistance will be appreciated.

The "Axle Grease" Case.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Sept. 12.—In the Dauphin county court the test case in which the constitutionality of the act prohibiting the manufacture of oleomargarine is to be tried, was called up. The commonwealth was represented by Hon. Wayne McCaughy, District Attorney McFarrell, while the defense was cared for by ex-Senator Gordon, of Philadelphia, and Lyman D. Gilbert, esq. At the outset the defense acknowledged themselves as guilty as to the facts in the case and requested the court to instruct the jury to render a verdict accordingly. This was done and the jury discharged. Senator Gordon then argued the law in the case, claiming the act unconstitutional in that it was contrary to the bill of rights, prohibiting as it did the manufacture of an article which was beneficial to the public. He also claimed the title of the bill defective. Hon. Wayne McCaughy is expected to present the commonwealth's side soon.

Importance of the Potato.

(Exchange) An idea of the importance of the potato as an item of food will be gathered from the following statement giving the average annual crop throughout the world: Germany, 25,000,000 metric tons; France, 113,000,000; Russia, 110,000,000; Austria, 75,000,000; the United States of America, 47,000,000; Ireland, 28,000,000; Great Britain, 26,000,000; Belgium, 25,000,000; Sweden, 16,000,000; Holland, 15,000,000; Hungary, 14,000,000; Italy, 7,000,000; Norway, 5,000,000; Denmark, 5,000,000; the Australian colonies, 3,000,000; Portugal, 3,000,000; and Spain, 2,000,000 metric tons—grand total, 720,000,000 of 100-lb. weights.

Historical Association.

SARATOGA, N. Y., Sept. 12.—The American Historical Association met at 10 o'clock. Rev. C. F. Robertson, bishop of Missouri, opened with an address on "The Louisiana Purchase and Its Influence on the American System." Miss Lucy M. Salmon, A. B., A. M., University of Michigan, next read a paper on the "History of the Appointing Power of the President of the United States," and John Addison Porter, A. B., one on "The City of Washington, Its Origin and Administration." The addresses were very able and exhaustive, and were well received.

Justin McCarthy Coming.

BOSTON, Sept. 12.—The Republic-Lycium bureau has contracted with Justin McCarthy for a lecture tour in this country. He will leave England late in November, and will remain here some months.

Defaulter Jailed.

BOSTON, Sept. 12.—David H. Naylor, the embezzling Boston agent of the New York House of Robertson & Hopley, was examined in default of $5,000 bail for the superior court.
